WASHINGTON, DECEMBER 26, 1942

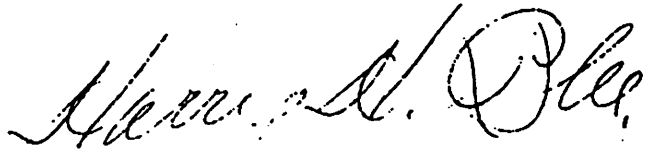

WEATHER SERVICE - CAP COASTAL PATROLS

1. Effective January 1, 1943, the Weather Bureau will make certain changes in the weather service for CAP Coastal Patrols set forth in Coastal Patrol Circular No. 8, this Headquarters, November 18, 1942. These changes will be as follows:

- a. Forecasts for CAP Coastal Patrol No. 7, Chapman Field, Miami, Florida, will be prepared by the Weather Bureau Forecast Office located at Miami, Florida, instead of the Forecast Office located at Jacksonville, Florida.
- b. Forecasts for CAP Coastal Patrol No. 15, Corpus Christi Airport, Corpus Christi, Texas will be prepared by the Weather Bureau Forecast Office located at Ft. Worth, Texas, instead of the Forecast Office located at New Orleans, Louisiana.
- c. Forecasts for CAP Coastal Patrol No. 12, San Benito Airport, San Benito, Texas will be prepared by the Weather Bureau Forecast Office located at Brownsville, Texas, instead of the Weather Bureau Forecast Office located at New Orleans, Louisiana.

2. These changes will in no way impair the weather service to CAP Coastal Patrols; in fact, some increase in detail in the forecasts may be possible through the greater number of centers which will prepare the forecasts and the closer liaison possible at Miami and Brownsville.
